

$$a^T x = c$$

The diagram consists of a solid orange line sloping upwards from left to right. A shorter orange line segment, representing a vector, originates from a point on the main line and points downwards and to the right. An arrowhead is at the end of this shorter segment. The label a is positioned below the arrowhead.

a